

A Summary of Key Points and Lessons Learned During the 2016 World Congress for Continuing Professional Development

Tuesday, June 7, 2016

1:00-2:00 p.m. ET

Every four years, the World Congress for Continuing Professional Development occurs and focuses on a number of important themes. The speakers for this upcoming June webinar sponsored by the Association for Hospital Medical Education and the Society for Academic Continuing Medical Education will summarize the key points from among the following themes as presented at the March 17-19, 2016 World Congress in San Diego:

- CME Works – Now What? Studies show that continuing education has impact in enhancing knowledge, improving competence and performance. How is this achieved?
- What is CME/CPD in the 21st Century? The realm of health professional education is changing at a rapid rate. What will it be like in the 21st Century?
- How can CME/CPD participate as a full partner in the rapidly changing healthcare system? New environments require new techniques and new audiences.
- Continuing Interprofessional Education (CIPE): How do we educate the inter-professional team?
- Global and Local CME/CPD: How do we practice our profession with both local and global considerations?

Speakers:

Joyce Fried is Assistant Dean in the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA and Co-Director of the Office of Continuing Medical Education. In her dual role she touches upon all aspects of the medical education continuum. Her responsibilities include LCME accreditation, strategic planning, gender and power abuse prevention (on which she has published her findings), as well as teaching second-year medical students as a Doctoring tutor. She served as Chair of the Program Committee for the 2016 World Congress on Continuing Professional Development.

Mary Turco, EdD is Assistant Professor of Medicine at the Geisel School of Medicine at Dartmouth and Learning and Professional Development Consultant in the Dartmouth-Hitchcock Center for Learning and Professional Development. She has recently served as President of the Society for Academic Continuing Medical Education. Dr. Turco provides education consultation and research as well as faculty development for Graduate Medical Education, Continuing Education/Professional Development, and Simulation-Based Education and Research.

Moderator:

David Pieper, PhD is Chair of AHME's Council on Continuing Medical Education. He recently retired as Assistant Dean for Continuing Medical Education at Wayne State University School of Medicine and is currently the Executive Director of the Southeast Michigan Center for Medical Education.
