

The Association for Hospital Medical Education (AHME) is continually seeking ways to support members in their mission to provide an outstanding educational experience for medical students, residents and faculty and, in so doing, to enhance the quality of care delivered in their institutions. Many AHME members are already subscribers to the American Medical Association (AMA) GME Competency Education Program and have found it to be a highly effective way to educate residents about a whole host of critical topics and to efficiently track their completion of this curriculum. Recognizing the impact these resources could have in your institutions, we have developed a relationship with the AMA to make the GME Competency Education Program available to AHME members at a discounted rate. Therefore, on behalf of AHME President Marilane Bond, EdD, MEd, MBA, and the entire AHME leadership team, I am very pleased to encourage you to learn more about how you, your residents, and your institution could benefit from the AMA GME Competency Education Program.

Association for Hospital Medical Education*

Dear AHME Members,

The AMA is delighted to announce our new partnership with AHME that will offer you a 10% discount on our GME Competency Education program. This new AMA program is a web-based educational series that will improve the education and training of residents with enhanced features for both administrators and residents. The new and improved platform will give administrators a quick, comprehensive look at resident usage, detailed reporting features, and the ability to customize curricula per program year and/or specific program needs from a robust library of 33 courses. Short, concise courses and mobile optimization reduce stress on residents and allows for self-paced learning, available whenever, wherever. Every resident that an institution provides with access to GME Competency Education Program may also take advantage of individual AMA membership at no additional cost. We are committed to supporting individual residents as they aim to meet the daily rigors of their training as well as the long term commitment they make to their careers in medicine. We look forward to providing significant value to AHME members and their institutions. To learn more about how to bring the AMA's GME Competency Education Program to your institution and how it can benefit you and your GME staff, contact us at gcep@ama-assn.org.
