

New Edition of Influential Text Now Available!

Remediation of the Struggling Medical Learner was written by Jeannette Guerrasio, MD, Associate Professor of Medicine, UME Clinical Skills Specialist for the Creation and Implementation of Individualized Learning Plans, and GME Chief Remediation and Individualized Learning Plan Consultant, University of Colorado School of Medicine.

- Originally published by AHME in 2013, this resource provides a practical approach to identifying residents and medical students who are not developing at an expected pace and then assisting them to reach their professional potential.
- A second edition of this book was released in January 2018. It includes new teaching techniques using evidence-based approaches, information on the legal consequences of remediation and changes in academic status, how to support learners and teachers experiencing burn-out, how to teach struggling learners to accept feedback, and the importance of prevention.

This publication is available electronically on the AHME Website as a member benefit. Print editions can be purchased through Amazon as well as Barnes & Noble.
