

The Association for Hospital Medical Education (AHME) is continually seeking ways to support members in their mission to provide an outstanding educational experience to their medical students, residents and faculty and, in so doing, to enhance the quality of care delivered in their institutions. From time to time, the Association comes across products and services of such value that we make an effort to develop relationships with these organizations to make these resources available to AHME members at a discounted rate.

AHME members are already familiar with the New England Journal of Medicine (NEJM) and know it to be one of the world's leading medical journals. "Published continuously for over 200 years, NEJM delivers high-quality, peer-reviewed research and interactive clinical content to physicians, educators, and the global medical community." What members may not realize is that the NEJM Group provides additional products and services that can assist medical students, residents, and faculty as they prepare for clinical rotations, board certification and recertification examinations, and as they strive to remain abreast of the latest advances in medicine.

On behalf of the entire AHME leadership team, we encourage our colleagues to explore the features of NEJM Resident 360 and NEJM Knowledge +. We further suggest that internal medicine, pediatrics, family medicine, and orthopedics program directors (along with seven additional representatives from their programs) avail themselves of a free 2-week trial of NEJM Knowledge +. Finally, we are pleased to note that AHME members are eligible for a 15% discount on these resources and that further information about the free trial and the discount can be secured via the Partnerships link on the left side navigation bar in the Members Area of the AHME Website.

In Support of the Important Work You Do,
