

Understanding the Changing Environment and the Healthcare Workforce

Tuesday, January 21, 2014 ~ 1:00-2:00 p.m. Eastern

A price-conscious, value-packed teleconference

The National Center for Health Workforce Analysis was established in 2010 to support more informed public and private sector decision making related to the health workforce through expanded and improved health workforce data, projections and information and to promote the supply and distribution of well-prepared health workers to ensure access to high quality, efficient care for the nation. As its first Director, Mr. Salsberg will share the work of the Center as 2014 brings significant changes to health care delivery and access and to the evolving workforce that will deliver this care. Understanding the anticipated changes in the Health Workforce will be essential to successfully managing your GME Enterprise over the next decade in the context of the Affordable Care Act.

Objectives:

At the end of this teleconference session, the learner should be able to:

- Describe the mission of the National Center for Health Workforce Analysis;
- Be conversant in the Changing Healthcare Environment;
- Understand the Changing Health Workforce as related to physicians, residents and fellows and interprofessional teams; and
- Interpret the local changes in one's own institution as it relates to GME future planning.

Speaker:

Ed Salsberg, MPA joined the Department of Health and Human Services, Health Resources and Services Administration, as the first Director of the new National Center for Health Workforce Analysis in 2010. Prior to HRSA, Mr. Salsberg was the founding Director of the Center for Workforce Studies and a Senior Director at the AAMC and Executive Director of the Center for Health Workforce Studies at the School of Public Health at the University at Albany of the State University of New York. Mr. Salsberg is on the faculty at George Washington University. He has authored and co-authored numerous reports and papers on the health workforce.

Moderator: Carrie Eckart, MBA, is AHME's current President and has been Assistant Vice President of GME at UPMC since December 2012. She previously served as AHME's Secretary and CADME Chair.
